

German Play To Be Given This Evening

Arthur Mueller and Irene Espeseth
Take Leading Roles

Tonight at 8 o'clock the German Club will present "Einer Muss Hieratun," (One Must Marry) a farcical German Folk Comedy of one act.

The comedy centers about two brothers, both of them bachelor professors, whose father has died leaving a will in which it is stipulated that one of them must marry. A girl comes upon the scene, and then the fun begins. A complication of hilarious situations follows, during which both of the brothers strive laboriously for the hand of the fair heroine. At times the outcome is doubtful, but the bashful hero wins out in the end.

Arthur Mueller, '29, Wausau is the bashful hero, while Irene Espeseth, '28, Manitowish is the heroine. Other important parts are taken by Gertrude Lanzer, '27, and Edgar Spanegal, '28.

The play has been prepared under the direction of Dr. G. C. Cast and Miss Elise Bohstedt, and much time has been given over to rehearsals and preparation. As a special feature Miss Eleanor McKibben, conservatory student, will sing two German songs, "Ala Die Mutter" by Dvorak, and "Traum Durch die Daemmerung" by Strauss. The play will be presented in the small auditorium in the chapel. A nominal admission fee of ten cents will be charged.

Prof. Rogers Testifies In Commission Case

Professor W. E. Rogers testified before the state Railway Commission at Hortonville Friday afternoon and evening, in a water power case involving the town dam.

The suit was based on the alleged destruction of some timber land, due to flooding the shores of a lake, and Professor Rogers was called in to examine the property and report the extent of the damage.

Will Address Convention

Dr. John B. MacHarg will be one of the principal speakers at the opening meeting of the Illinois State Historical Society's annual convention at Springfield, May 6, 7, 8.

The subject of Dr. MacHarg's address will be "The Relations of the Primitive Cultures of the Mississippi and the Rio Grande."

Professor Fairfield Combines Art and Utility in Classroom

Walls of restful brown, hung with pictures representative of the famous art periods of the world, several easels, some neat filing cases, and a "brownboard," rather than a blackboard, help make up the most attractive classroom Lawrence has. But then, it belongs to Professor O. P. Fairfield, and he, teaching art, would be a precursor in artistic classrooms.

His room over in the library is an example of a utilitarian and decorative combination. He has wanted a "perfect" room for a long time, and this year his hope is being realized.

Perhaps a copy of a painting of a Venetian gentleman, Renaissance period, is the most remarkable picture in the room. Effective in itself, it is made outstanding by being framed in a boarded-up door back of the desk. Thus, what might have been an ugly spot, has ingeniously been transformed to a beautiful one. Five pictures along the side wall are illustrative of French, English, Dutch, and Italian art. Most of them are taken from romantic stories. For instance, "Libyan Sibyl," by Raphael, is from a group in the Sistine Chapel in Rome, one of the finest Christian

Tichenor Prize Examination Saturday

A competitive examination for the Tichenor prizes will be held Saturday, May 15. Two awards, one of $30 and a second of $20, will be given to the two students who show greatest excellence in the general field of English Literature.

The examination will be given under the supervision of Dr. W. E. McPheeters in the literature room, Main Hall. The judges have not yet been named.

One Hundred Extra Copies of 1926 Ariel

One hundred extra copies of the Ariel are being provided for this year. Because many who want the book did not sign up during registration, the business manager is securing a larger number for distribution.

Modern Language Requirements For Next Year Changed

Three Years of Foreign Language Required for A. B. Degree

New rules in regard to the modern language requirements applying to next year's semester curriculum, have recently been announced by Dr. L. C. Baker, head of the department of modern languages. Although a detailed list of requirements will appear in the course of study bulletin in May, the general requisites are listed below.

Three years of a foreign language are required for all graduates with the A. B. degree. The three years must be in one language unless the student shows at the end of the second year a capacity to read the foreign language. Any student who attains a degree of "B" in the second year of a language may take the test for reading knowledge. If the test is passed successfully, he need not pursue the language beyond the second year.

Credits in high school may apply if the same language is continued in college. However, at least one year of foreign language must be taken in college.

College Catalogue

The college catalogue, a list of the revised courses of study for next year, will be completed about May 1. It will be used in the spring registration, which is to take the place of the one held formerly in the fall.

Minneapolis Symphony To Give Concert

Orchestra Will Give Program at Memorial Chapel on May 12

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, whose history is synonymous with the development of musical appreciation and culture throughout the middle west, will appear in concert at the chapel, Wednesday evening, May 12.

Henri Verbrugghen, conductor of the orchestra for the past two years, has led the players on to new heights of achievement. A Belgian by birth, Mr. Verbrugghen began his musical career as a favorite violin pupil of Eugene Ysaye. As concertmaster and conductor, his subsequent record is one of brilliant successes in London, Brussels, Berlin, Munich, and Petrograd.

In commenting on the personality of Henri Verbrugghen, the Milwaukee Journal critic says, "Temperament, insight, ardor, and impulse belong to him superlatively, counterbalanced by poise, taste, and judgment."

Miss Jeanette Vreeland, soprano, New York, will assist the orchestra in its concert.

Speaker Describes Rescue Mission Work

"A door of hope for the hopeless" was the characterization made of the Milwaukee Rescue Mission by Carl A. Montanus of Milwaukee in his talk in chapel yesterday. Mr. Montanus, who is at present financial secretary of the Mission, has been connected with it for the last twenty years.

Mr. Montanus told of the work of the Mission as a refuge for the fallen and an impetus for a fresh start to the hopeless. He gave instances of its reclaiming work among those who have come to Milwaukee and lost out, discussed the opportunities offered in the city, and stressed also the fact that success is found there only by the comparative few.

The Rescue Mission is the only place of its kind in the state of Wisconsin. A wood-yard, operated by the Mission, gives an opportunity of self-respecting work to those who come to it for aid. The policy emphasized by it is to lift and help, but not to pauperize or institutionalize.

Rogers Has Article In Botanical Journal

"Botanical Abstracts," the leading review journal of botanical research in this country, recently presented in its forestry department reviews of the two technical papers which Professor W. E. Rogers published on the effects of ice storms on trees, and the resistance of trees to ice storm injury. The journal, which is published in Baltimore, reviews all of the published research on plants the world over. The editorial board is composed of leading botanists throughout the nation.

No Sickness

There are no cases of serious illness on the Lawrence campus, according to the report of Miss Hazel Taylor, school nurse, late yesterday.

This period of unusual good health follows the numerous cases of flu and colds usual in the spring.

Mr. Alfred Phillips, a former Lawrencean, who has been working with the American Steel and Wire Company, is now sampling iron ores and doing underground work in a Virginia mine, which is the property of this company.

Dean Wilson S. Naylor spoke to East and West Green Bay high schools yesterday.

"L" Club Dance Will Be Given Friday Night

The "L" Club of Lawrence College will give its dance on Friday night, April 30, in the Alexander gym at 8:30 o'clock.

This dance, which will not be limited to members of the "L" Club, is given to secure sufficient funds to give a banquet for the high school track athletes who will participate in the high school meet to be held in the middle of May.

The gym is to be decorated in blue and white, and the davenport, which will be placed around the hall, will be havens of rest for those who do not care to dance.

Tickets for the dance are now on sale at all the fraternity houses.

Lawrentian Is Workshop For News Writing Class

In an effort to provide as much practical experience as possible, the news writing students under Professor Clippinger are using the Lawrentian office as a workshop. By this method, students are allowed to combine theory and practice in newspaper work, and at the same time receive credit for their labor.

The class is divided into groups which will study the various steps in the preparation of a newspaper. As members prove themselves capable in class problems, they will be allowed to assist the editors of the Lawrentian in preparing regular editions.

There is a double advantage connected with this system. Students have the opportunity to write news stories, heads, and to edit copy, after having studied the methods prescribed by the course in news writing. It also helps to uncover any talent in this year's class that may be ready for an editorial position on the staff next year.

Lucille Meusel Wins Distinction in Chicago

Miss Lucille Meusel, a former student at Lawrence Conservatory and a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, has recently won distinction in musical circles in Chicago.

Miss Meusel, who has been studying voice with Herbert Witherspoon for the last year and a half, placed in the finals in competition held by the vocal department of the Chicago Music College. Her presentation of "Qui la Voce" from "Il Puritani" by Bellini, merited her an enthusiastic reception.

The report stated that "her singing was of such high order that it placed her immediately in the ranks of the professional singers of undoubted ability." It is expected that Miss Meusel will make her public debut the coming season.

While at Lawrence Miss Meusel exhibited unusual talent as a vocalist and pianist. In 1924 she accompanied the Men's Glee Club on its southern tour as soprano soloist. She played a leading role in "The Chimes of Normandy" and is well known as a trap shooter.

New Apparatus In Biology Department

Two new pieces of apparatus were recently received by the biology department as additional equipment for the use of the students.

One is a microscopic drawing instrument, and the other a mechanical stage. The latter provides for the routine examination of slides. Only a small portion of the slide is exposed at one time but the instrument covers accurately every part during an examination.

Each instrument is valued at thirty dollars.

Charm School By Sunset Players a Tremendous Success

Helen Chegwin and Harry Snyder
Carry Leads Well in Play

"The Charm School," the annual production of the Sunset Players, was presented before a good sized audience on Monday evening.

The lead was played by Harry Snyder, '27, in the character of Austin Bevens, and was rendered exceptionally well, the role being particularly suited to him. The feminine lead, as played by Helen Chegwin, '29, was also well done.

Miss Curtis, the old maid secretary, as played by Ennie Davis, '27, deserves special mention as an exceptionally good interpretation of the character, while Catherine Lightbody, '26, made a most austere head of the school in the role of Miss Hays.

Kenneth Greaves, '28, was the typical gruff old gentleman, while the four other men in the cast, John Taras, '27, Kenneth Miles, '29, Walter Haas, '27, and Diehl Snyder, '29, introduced the necessary element of humor in a clever fashion.

The school girls, played by Helen Upham, '28, Betty Kendall, '26, Katherine Schmeltz, '29, and Amy Gouldt, '28, gave the local color to the school.

Aside from some confusion in the change of scenes necessitated by the size of the stage in the chapel, the play went off very smoothly, and credit is due to the directors and property managers as well as to the cast for the quality of the production.

Miss Hazel Taylor, school nurse, spent the week-end in Madison.

Catlin Is Football Coach, Attorney And Expert Horticulturist

Coach Mark Catlin, in addition to being the football mentor of Lawrence and a prominent local lawyer, has a hobby in the culture of dahlias. For many years Coach Catlin has experimented with his flowers, and has developed 128 new varieties of the plant. Through the successful development of these new "brands," he has become a recognized authority on the subject of dahlias.

"Dahlias have always been presumed to be a fall flower, usually blooming during the heavy fall rains. By keeping the plant in earth as moist as it would be during this season, it is possible to keep them in bloom the year around."

"The bulbs cannot be just pulled apart and expected to grow, but one should be careful to include an 'eye' with each section planted. These eyes are usually found in or along the

Frosh Ahead In Inter-Class Track Meet

Pitner and Hipke Are High Scorers—
Remainder of Meet
Today

As a result of the first half of the Inter-class track meet at the George A. Whiting Field yesterday afternoon, the frosh are in the lead with 37 points, followed closely by the juniors with 22 counters. The seniors and sophomores are in third and fourth positions with nine and seven points respectively.

The rest of the meet will be run off this afternoon, the events having been postponed from Saturday because of rain.

Pitner, frosh distance runner, is high point man thus far, having topped two first for ten points. The former Racine high star showed his heels to competition in both the mile and half mile events.

The Hyde twins garnered all the soph points, and threaten to take a few more counters in the century event tonight.

Hipke led the junior scoring with eight points, and Stair was senior ace.

The time for the running events was rather slow, the poor condition of the track slowing up the spiked shoe men considerably.

Summary:

Shot Put — Hipke (J), Artz (F), Thompson (F), Nason (J), Distance 40 ft. 1 1/2 inches.

220 Dash—Don Hyde (S), Stair (S), Douglas Hyde (S). Time 23.6.

High Jump—Stair (Sr) and McConnell (J) tied for first, Bernard (F), Hipke (J). Height 5 feet 9 inches.

Mile Run—Pitner (F), Kingsbury (J) Purves (S), Miller (F). Time 5.11 3/5.

Half Mile Run—Pitner (F), Menning (F), Jones (F), Shimanski (F). Time 2.18 3/5.

120 High Hurdles—Bayer (J), and Rohan (F), tied for first, Miller (F). Time 20 flat.

Javelin—Artz (F), Hipke (J), Humphrey (F), Heideman (J), distance 151 feet, 9 inches.

Piano Student Wins Honorable Mention

Mr. Alvin Morris, a piano student of Miss Gladys Brainard, of the Milwaukee Institute of Music, recently won honorable mention in the Wisconsin State Young Composers Contest.

Mr. Morris' composition was a theme with five variations; one a Zoz variation, and another after Scribner in modern Russian style. Mr. Morris has been studying composition with Karl Eppert of Milwaukee.

crown of the bulb group."

Any earth that will hold water well is suitable for dahlias, according to Coach Catlin. It is possible to bring them to bloom in common ashes, if kept moist enough.

Last year he had flowers in bloom from the second week in June till the first freeze came in the latter part of October.

Coach Catlin has made some interesting discoveries in the preservation of cut flowers. By putting the ends of the freshly cut stems in scalding water for a few seconds, the flowers can be kept fresh as long as ten days. Another method that accomplishes practically the same result is to singe the ends with a flame of some sort.

"Hobbies provide a much needed diversion from the daily routine, and often lead to many valuable inventions," he declares.

Work of Bartolozzi Found in Old Book

By Francis W. Bailey

A portrait of John Evelyn by Francesco Bartolozzi, one of the most famous engravers of the eighteenth century, has been discovered in an old book recently purchased by the college library from a dealer in second hand books.

The book has the interesting title, "Silva: or a discussion of forest trees and the propagation of timber in his majesty's dominions, as it was delivered in the Royal Society on the fifteen day of October, 1662," and was originally published in 1664. The edition which has been purchased is that of 1776, edited by a physician who signs himself A. Hunter. This Doctor Hunter has evidently taken great pains with the edition, for he has collected a number of illustrations showing the different varieties of trees discussed—executed with the exquisite detail of the engravers' art.

The frontispiece is the portrait of the original author, John Evelyn, executed by the master, Bartolozzi. Here we see the sensitive, refined features of the scholar who has left among his other writings, one of the most famous diaries in English literature.

In his "Silva" he has not only presented a discussion of the scientific care of trees but also made a plea for the care of the English forest, warning his readers that these treasures are in danger of destruction. This work was addressed primarily to the noble land holders (since literature was still produced largely under noble patronage) but the editor has added a sort of glossary which he labels "Advertisement," in which he has explained several technical terms used in order that the book may be read by "rusticks" with better understanding.

Marion Straubel, '27 Finds Starfish Fossil

Marion Straubel, '27, found an unusual fossilized starfish when the class in Paleontology visited the Mackville stone quarry Friday, April 16.

Dr. Rufus M. Bagg says that this is probably the first fossil of the kind ever found in Wisconsin, although similar ones have been discovered in other parts of the United States. He estimates its age at about 50,000,000 years. It was in very good condition.

COLLITCH BOYS

The Laundry Queen Talks:
(Dedicated to the girl who said:
"How do youse know we ain't co-eds?")

Ain't collitch boys the funniest things! They wear
The craziest clothes! Balloon trou, and ties, and shoes
Three times too wide. They wear their hair
Silked down or curly as the fad Rules.

There are two kinds of men.
The slickers, loungers, cakes—you know the kind;
They like to dance and neck and spend the yen.

Then there are brutes, the athletes.
You'll find
These babies can be handled easy when
You know the way—Just look into their eyes

And say:
"Ain't you the biggest, strongest man!"

They'll swallow hook, line, bait, and all—
Handle us so gently lest we fall,
And tie on the feed bag in a swell stall.

Ain't they funny!
They talk for hours about a game
Where they hit a ball with a heavy stick,
Or about the gymn, it's all the same—
We just look wise and say, "Oh, swell!"

And get by big.
But slickers aren't so easy to bluff,
Sometimes they really know their stuff,
And we walk back—Now ain't that tough?

That's not so funny.
Protheroe

Filbert reminds us that only a blind man would fall in love at first sight.

Stude: "C'mere yourself. You're closer to me than I am to you."

Said the professor: "That was a terrible recitation today, class. I had to do three-quarters of it myself."

During the week,
We think of lots
Of clever things,
But we forget to remember them.
And various friends
Tell us jokes, and say:
"There's something
For your Dustpan."

And again, we forget.

Maps Received By Geology Department

The geology department has received sets of maps from the United States Geological Survey Department in Washington, D. C.

Types of land forms, artesian waters, structural geology, and general underground problems are illustrated in these maps which are to be used in class work. Dr. R. M. Bagg, professor of geology and mineralogy, states that the maps are an exceedingly important and valuable addition to the department.

Myra MacInnis, '20, is resigning her position in the high school at Wisconsin Rapids at the close of this year, to accept one as teacher of English at the high school in Watertown for next year.

Undefeated Tankmen Will Meet the Local "Y" Team Tonight

Two meets have been arranged for the Lawrence swimming squad this week. The team, which has not been beaten this year, will be hitting keener competition in the next couple of swims, but Coach Gebhardt has a couple of regular fish on the squad in Cinkosky and Colvin.

Tonight the Blue fish will cross fins with the local "Y" gang at 8:15 in the "Y" tub. Aderhold, Bleier, Cinkosky, Colvin and Dreher will be in suits for Lawrence, while MacInnis, Williamson, former University of Wisconsin swimmer, and Runde will be among those splashing for the "Y".

Saturday night Lawrence clashes with the Wausau, Fondy, Appleton, and Green Bay "Y's" in a quintangular meet in the Bay tank. Colvin, Bleier, Cinkosky, Dreher and Klien will probably make the trip. Klien, a recent discovery, has been laid up for the past few days, but should come back strong after his rest.

Should the team take first in the meet Saturday, it will have a clear claim to the title of Northeastern Wisconsin, as the quintangle is made up of the best swimmers in the district.

Many Veterans On Oshkosh Track Team

Coach Hancock is still at sea as regards any new material to put against the Lawrentians as a result of the inability of the Oshkosh men to run off their inter-society meet last Saturday in the April shower.

Although Coach Hancock is handicapped in that respect, he still has a wealth of veteran material to carry the brunt of the offense against the Blue at Whiting field on Saturday afternoon, May 1. About twelve men from last year's squad have been reporting regularly, and about the same number of new men enhance the prospects beyond the proverbial faint glimmer.

Captain Louis Lyons in the middle distances, Nathan Clow in the high and low hurdles, Warren Wright in the shot put, George Cooper in the discus throw, and Edwin Bogucki in the dashes look like the most probable point winners on the Normal squad.

"Mac" Hulbert

Playing With Pilgrims

"Mac" Hulbert, flashy forward on Lawrence's 1924 and 1925 basketball squads, has been playing a whizz of a game this year for the Pilgrims, Madison Industrial league champs, according to Roundy Coughlin, Madison sport writer. Playing at forward he starred as well as captained his crew throughout the season.

While playing with Lawrence "Mac" could always be counted on for a couple of ringers when they were needed, his eye for the hoop always keeping his opponents worried. He is a member of Theta Phi fraternity.

"The Family Budget"

By a Lawrence Alum

"The Family Budget," an article dealing with a method of budgeting procedure, designed for the family composed of college people, and written by Charles Reittel, a former Lawrentian, has recently been published.

The article was originally broadcasted by Mr. Reittel, on January 15, from KDKA studio at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

The article discusses the necessity of a family budget, and the four principles of budget making, which, according to Mr. Reittel, are simplicity, a monthly check-up of expenditures and allotments, elasticity for the unexpected, and the support and cooperation of the entire family. The latter principle of mutual interest and cooperation is particularly emphasized.

A sample budget sheet is provided by Mr. Reittel. This outlines the items to be considered and the portion of the income that should go to each person. A table of budget item percentages is also given.

Mr. Reittel, who attended Lawrence for a number of years, is now connected with the School of Business Administration of the University of Pittsburgh. He is also associated with Sheppard and Company, certified public accountants. Mr. Reittel was formerly director of accounts and deputy secretary of Pennsylvania.

Orlando Nelson, '26, has accepted a teaching position for next year in the department of chemistry at the Janesville High School.

Charlotte Bard, '29, returned from her home in Manawa to resume her college work after a three weeks' illness.

Seven Dual Meets On Tennis Schedule

According to the tennis schedule announced by Coach Mundhenke, this year will probably witness the most active court season Lawrence has ever had. Seven dual meets have been arranged, four at home and three on foreign courts.

In addition to these dual meets the State College Tourney is going to be held here on May 17, 18 and 19. All state colleges have been invited to participate and the entries will undoubtedly include Marquette, Beloit, Northwestern, and Northland as well as the colleges Lawrence will engage individually.

Coach Mundhenke has not picked the Blue squad as yet, but he is conducting a sort of a round robin tourney as a means of getting a line on his men. Intense drill will be the program for the net men this week in preparation for the Oshkosh Normal contest which is scheduled here this Saturday.

Following is the complete schedule:

May 1—Oshkosh Normal (here)
May 8—Appleton Y.M.C.A. (here)
May 10—Milton College (there)
May 15—Ripon College (there)
Fox River Valley High School Tourney (here)
May 17-19—State College Tourney (here)
May 21—Oshkosh Normal (there)
May 22—Ripon College (here)
May 26—Milton College (here)

Inter-Fraternity Horseshoe Tourney

Now is the time for all good barnyard golfers to come to the aid of their fraternities, for next Saturday starts the Inter-Fraternity Horseshoe Tourney.

Those "big butter and egg men" who have been clamouring to toss the luck omens around will now be given a chance to show their "metal." Several men have been conditioning themselves for the past few weeks in anticipation of this "ringing" anticlimax of the sporting season.

On The Screen

Those who think romance died with the passing out of the sword and buckler and quaint days of chivalry, and that the modern hustle and bustle of life has crowded out life's drama, should see Marion Davies in "Beverly of Graustark."

Here is romance with a capital R—and all in modern dress.

The new Cosmopolitan production, now playing at the Elite theatre, is George Barr McCutcheon's famous novel. Marion Davies plays an American girl, heroine of the play—but her most remarkable feat is when the heroine masquerades as a man.

"Miss Brewster's Millions" the Paramount picture coming to the Fischers Appleton Theatre on Friday, was directed by Clarence Badger; Bebe Daniels is the star, and the featured players are Warner Baxter and Ford Sterling.

A little movie extra finds herself heiress to a million dollars which can not be spent, due to a clause in the will. She is in a terrible predicament, till an uncle turns up, who seemingly shows her the way out. He promises an additional five million if she'll make it her business to spend the one she already has.

In one scene Bebe, as a movie extra, rides through the streets of Hollywood dressed in medieval costume, on the back of a mule.
